Katharina Günther-Wünsch
Senator for Education, Youth and Family

Dear parents,

Your child's first day of school is gradually approaching, a new and exciting phase of life begins for your offspring with enrolment. Berlin's educational landscape is as diverse as its students, every child can learn in our city according to their needs and strengths. This provides everyone with the best possible prospects for the future.

But what do you need to know about primary schools in Berlin and how do you actually register your child for school? This brochure guides you through the registration process and provides you with lots of useful information, practical tips and links to other handy websites. And of course, the staff at your primary school will be happy to advise you on any questions concerning your child's first steps into school life.

I wish you and your child a good start to a wonderful time at school!

Best wishes,

Katharina Günther-Wünsch

FROM REGISTRATION TO ENROLMENT

If your child will turn six before 30 September 2024, they should begin school on 9 September 2024. They will then start a new, exciting stage of their lives, gain important experiences and become more independent.

But where, when and how do you register your child for school? You will find the answers on the following pages. Here, you will also find out more about the all-day offer and about special educational support at schools in Berlin.

Should your child attend a school with a linguistic, musical or other focus? Then the final list of schools with special offers will give you an initial overview.

The start of compulsory school attendance

DATE OF BIRTH	ENROLMENT
Up to and including 30 September 2018	September 2024
October 2018 to March 2019	September 2025, upon request: September 2024
April to September 2019	September 2025

Registration period:
9 to 20 October
2023

School registration

Is your child subject to compulsory school attendance in August 2024? Then you have to register your child with the relevant school for you in good time in autumn 2023.

For school registration, you need:

- the birth certificate and other personal documents of your child,
- your identity card or passport with the latest registration certificate.

You are welcome to accompany your child so that they can take their first steps into the new learning environment together with you. You may also bring someone else for support, if necessary, an interpreter, for instance.

Supplementary support and care (after school care)

Would you like to have your child cared for at school in the mornings or afternoons? If yes, you can apply for this directly when registering for school. You can obtain the relevant form from the school or online.

Supplementary support and care (formerly “after-school care”) form

The relevant school

The relevant school for you is the primary school or comprehensive school for which you are in the catchment area, meaning the school which is closest to your home. As the route to school should be as short and easy to manage as possible for children. This also makes it easier for your child to maintain relationships with other children in their class.

At an information event before the 2024 summer holidays, you will find out more about the relevant school’s educational profile and provision, supplementary support and care as well as necessary purchases.

Early enrolment

If your child was born before 31 March 2019, you can apply for early enrolment. The requirement for this is that there is no need for support with language development.

To apply, please bring your child’s QuaStA form on language development with you. If your child was born after 31 March 2019, they may not be enrolled before summer 2025.

Information on language level

Later enrolment

Are you unsure whether your child is really ready for school? You have the option of postponing when your child starts school by one year.

Visits to school open days, visiting lessons or discussions with teachers and the nursery may be helpful when making this decision. It is also useful to seek advice from your local health authority's child and youth health service (Kinder- und Jugendgesundheitsdienst).

Application for deferment

Do you want to postpone when your child starts school by one year? Then discuss your decision with the nursery and submit an application for deferment to the relevant primary school. If your child is to be deferred, they must attend a nursery regularly in the year before their enrolment.

Your child's nursery will first carry out a professional assessment and prepare a support plan for your child that suits their level of development. Please submit the letter and this plan to the relevant school during school registration, but no later than 1 March 2024.

If you have already decided on the school registration date, tick the option for deferment in the corresponding box on the registration form. In this case, please arrange an early appointment for the school medical examination.

Decision by the supervision of schools

The supervision of schools in your district decides on whether to grant permission for deferment. In doing so, they consider the letter and plan from the nursery and the school medical report. You will then receive notification of whether your application was successful.

An additional report from the school psychological and inclusion educational advice and support centre (SIBUZ) is only requested in certain cases or if you request this yourself. The supervision of schools will be happy to advise you on all questions you may have about later enrolment and the best support for your child.

Your place in nursery is safe

As soon as you have received the notification from the supervision of schools, please inform the nursery, but no later than 30 April 2024. The nursery can then save a place for your child for another year. You will receive the corresponding day care ("Kita") voucher from the relevant youth welfare office.

Special educational support needs

If your child has developmental difficulties, a disability or chronic illness, please inform the school of this as early as when registering. This allows them to arrange an early appointment for the school enrolment examination.

You can also talk to the school about applying to have their special educational needs recognised. This way your child can get the best support from the very beginning.

Changing schools

As a general rule, you always register your child at the primary school or comprehensive school in your local catchment area.

However, you can also choose a different for your child. You must apply to change to this school when registering at your relevant school.

Changing schools is only possible though if there are specific reasons permitted within the School Act, for example:

- By attending the relevant school, your child would have less personal contact with siblings or other children who they have a close bond with.
- You want your child to go to a school with a specific offer, for example foreign languages or all-day provision.
- Attending the chosen school would make caring for your child significantly easier, especially based on your employment.

Attending a different school is only possible if it has enough free spaces. If a school receives more applications than it has spaces, the school authority checks each and every case. It is then possible that it will inform you of another school nearby which can take your child in good time before the summer holidays.

School medical examination

When you register your child for the school, you will also receive information about your child's school medical examination. This examination is prescribed by law and takes place at your local child and youth health service (Kinder- und Jugendgesundheitsdienst).

This is a check to see if your child is healthy and developed enough to be ready for learning and school life. The examination is carried out in the morning so that your child can concentrate well and is still alert.

Please plan about one hour for the examination plus some waiting time.

Examination procedure

The medical staff first talk you and your child through the examination procedure. After reviewing your child's health documents (vaccination card, record of medical check-ups)

there are age-appropriate eyesight and hearing tests. Your child's weight and height are also measured. To check their stage of development, your child is then given tasks relating to the following areas:

- Physical coordination,
- Fine motor skills,
- Perception skills,
- Language ability and
- Numerical and quantity reasoning.

Your child should complete the tasks independently and without your help. They do not have to do everything. It is also about observing how your child interacts with new, previously unknown people and how they behave around you.

After this, the school physician takes time to discuss the examination findings and your questions with you. They will also let you know how you can support your child at home, through nursery, school or a paediatrician.

Finally, the physician notes down their recommendation on attending school in your child's school registration form and, if applicable, any specific health information relating to your child. This information is important so that the school can offer the appropriate support and assistance, if necessary. After the examination, the local health authority sends the school registration back to the school again.

Schoolbags and school cones

You can add to your child's excitement about attending school by allowing them to help choose their schoolbag and stationery.

When choosing this, make sure that your child likes their schoolbag.

The quality is just as important. The bag should be visible to road users, weatherproof, lightweight, comfortable on your child's back, and made from environmentally-friendly materials.

The price is not the important thing, it's more important that the schoolbag fits and is not too heavy. When filled, it should not weigh more than ten percent of your child's weight.

Practical things such as coloured pencils, wax crayons, a lunchbox and drink bottle for breaktimes, an alarm clock, purse/wallet or colourful reflective strips for their schoolbag are suitable for their school cone on the first day of school.

Your child is sure to be delighted about small toys, a picture book, drawing book or friends book, a skipping rope or a small ball for active breaktimes.

However, there is so much more when it comes to school equipment – from pencils to gym shoes. You will usually receive a detailed list of the required school supplies materials in advance from your child's future class teacher.

PLEASE BRING THE FOLLOWING TO THE SCHOOL MEDICAL EXAMINATION:

- Your child's vaccination card,
- yellow medical check-up record,
- if applicable, any aids that your child needs, such as glasses or a hearing aid,
- important medical findings,
- optional: the results of the nursery speech test.

Practising the route to school

On their new daily route to school, your child will learn how to tackle traffic situations on their own or together with other children. Please make sure that your child is well prepared:

- Ensure that your child has a good night's sleep and a good breakfast before they leave for school.
- Choose the safest route possible from your home to school. Avoid dangerous situations like crossing roads without pedestrian traffic lights.
- Leave the car at home and walk to school with your child, even if the weather is not great. Exercise in the fresh air is good for your child's health and concentration. You also avoid dangerous traffic situations in front of the school which may put all school children at risk.
- Repeatedly walk the route to school with your child. First, take them by the hand. Then, let them lead you, little by little until they can do it alone. Then, observe their behaviour and practice where and how to cross the road with the most safety.
- When practicing the route to school together, discuss possible hazardous situations and how your child should behave, for example, if the pedestrian lights are not working, if the route is blocked or if other people ignore the red pedestrian light.

Enrolment ceremony and first school day

The enrolment ceremony for your child normally takes place on Saturday, 7 September 2024. The first school day will then be on Monday, 9 September 2024.

Your child's future school will inform you of the exact dates, lesson times and required school materials in good time.

SCHÜLERTICKET

The Schülerticket for Berlin's local public transport is free of charge for all school children. You can subscribe to the "fahrCard" online at: www.bvg.de/schuelerticket

To do this, you only need to upload your child's school ID and a passport photo as image files. Children older than six years old who still do not attend school may also use the ticket. As proof, they may use the notification of acceptance of the school, educational placement or the deferment decision from the supervision of schools.

ALL-DAY SCHOOL IN BERLIN

School is more than group learning in a class. It is also social interaction, which the all-day schools in Berlin aim to encourage.

In addition to lessons, the all-day school offers a wide range of educational and recreational activities. Teachers and education support workers work closely together with sports clubs, music schools, church communities, businesses and other partners.

Support and care for children in the afternoons offers parents and guardians the advantage of being able to balance working and family life better.

Open schools or schools with compulsory all-day attendance

Berlin distinguishes between open all-day schools and schools with compulsory all-day attendance. In both school forms, your child has after-school care in addition to classes.

The structure of the school day and class times are decided at each school individually. They determine the start of lessons, that classes last for 45 minutes or teaching takes place in blocks with longer breaktimes.

Each school also decides whether to offer supplementary after-school care to their pupils. They mainly organise the offer themselves or with a representative of the free youth welfare organisation.

The additional offer includes active breaks, breakfast and lunch together, study groups, homework clubs, physical activity and play.

Lunch together

In the all-day school, all children from years 1 to 6 can eat together and for free.

Information on the all-day school

Application for supplementary support and care (after-school care)

You can download the application form for supplementary support and care online:

www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/service/formulare

You may then hand the completed form in to your school along with your school registration and with all the necessary documents.

The youth welfare office then decides whether your child may use the after-school care offer and for how long. If you have received the notification, you can sign a corresponding contract with the youth welfare office or the representative of the free youth welfare organisation.

Support for children with disabilities or illnesses

Your child should be appropriately supported right from the start. So please indicate on the application if they have a disability, chronic illness or developmental difficulties.

If it has already been established that your child needs additional educational support, please inform the school during the registration.

BENEFITS FOR LOW-INCOME FAMILIES

Low-income families may receive financial support from the educational package if their parents' income consists wholly or partly of the following:

- Bürgergeld (citizen's benefit, previously "unemployment benefit II"),
- Wohngeld (housing allowance) or Sozialgeld (income support),
- Sozialhilfe (social welfare),
- Kinderzuschlag (child benefit) or
- Asylbewerberleistungen (asylum seekers' benefits).

The benefits include, for example, 150 euros per school year for school supplies such as a schoolbag, pencil case, workbooks and pens. The costs for school trips and tutoring may also be paid.

www.berlin.de/sen/bjf/bildungspaket

Open all-day primary school

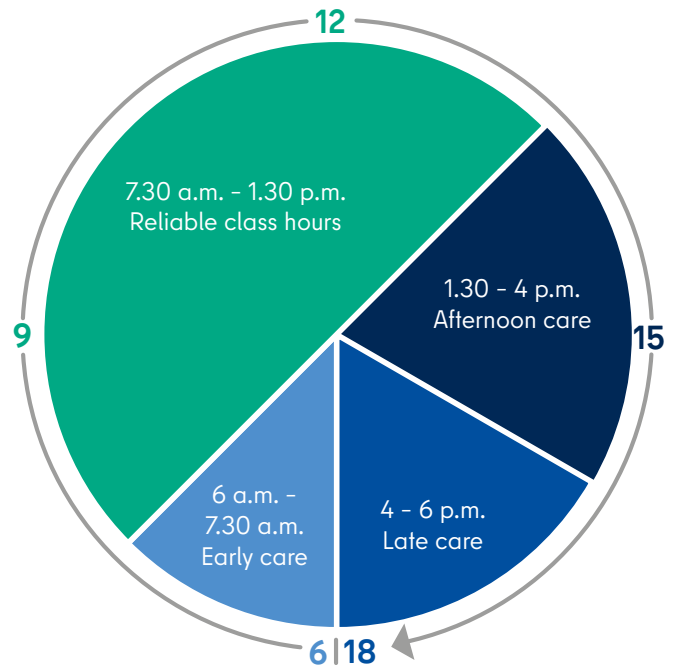

A day at an open all-day primary school consists of the following periods:

- Reliable class hours (green),
- Supplementary all-day provision and
- The school holiday provision between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

You have to apply to the school for the supplementary support and care. The youth welfare office determines the needs and sends you the notification for the school.

All the all-day provision is free for years 1 to 3.

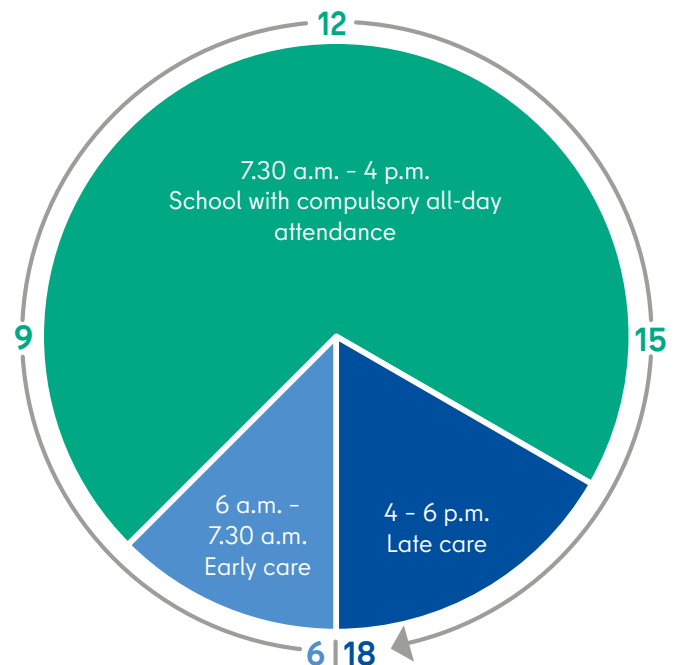

Parents of children in years 4 to 6 contribute to the costs for the supplementary support and care. The amount is based on the parental income and extent of care.

School with compulsory all-day attendance

At the school with compulsory all-day attendance, the school day on at least four days a week lasts from 7.30 a.m. until 4 p.m. (Green). Here, the activities alternate between lessons and supplementary offerings. The entire school provision is free of charge during this time.

In addition, there are supplementary early or late modules and holiday care. These offers are free for years 1 to 3 - and parents contribute to the costs for years 4 to 6. In both cases, you must apply for this support and prove your need for it.

LEARNING TOGETHER AND FLEXIBLY

Children of the same age often have very different abilities. Some can already read, write and count after just a few weeks of lessons, and others only achieve this after a year. The schools in Berlin respond to these differences in development by supporting each child individually. Each school has devised their own pedagogical plan for this.

Flexible initial phase of school education

For all children to be able to learn at their own pace, the duration of the first phase of school varies between children. The flexible initial phase of school education generally covers two years, or three years at some schools.

Children who require more time to lay the foundations for further learning may extend the initial phase of school by one more year.

If children learn at a faster pace thanks to particular abilities or a good start in life, they can advance to year 3 after just one year.

As children also learn very well with and from one another in a mixed-age group, there are often mixed classes in the initial phase.

Mixed-age learning

In mixed-age learning, younger and older children learn together. In doing so, each child follows their own pace of learning without having to switch to a different learning group or teacher.

Many schools offer the mixed-age learning principle for years 1 and 2, 3 and 4. Some schools even offer it for years 1 to 3 and 4 to 6.

Inclusive school

All children at Berlin's schools should be able to learn together and with equal opportunities. This applies whether your child has a disability or no disability, and regardless of their different performance, abilities, and their social, ethnic or cultural origin. The primary factors are the characteristics and needs of each and every child and that they are given the best possible learning opportunities.

All schools, with the exception of those with a special educational focus, teach children with and without special educational needs together. There are also inclusive specialist schools for children with more severe disabilities.

The special educational focus points include:

- Language
- mental development
- emotional and social development
- physical and motor development
- Sight
- Hearing and communication
- learning (from year 3, reviewable from year 1) or
- autism

Support for children with disabilities

If a child has been identified as having special educational needs, it can attend the relevant school at the request of the parents or guardians – or an inclusive specialist school or school with a special educational focus.

You must apply for special educational support. The school psychological and inclusion educational advice and support centre (SIBUZ) decides on whether the application is successful. It appoints a teacher specialising in special needs education to write a report on their assessment.

Various types of information are requested or obtained for this:

- from you
- from the nursery staff
- if applicable, from SIBUZ, specialist doctors or other institutions and
- possible relevant test results

If these needs are confirmed, an individual support plan is required. The teaching staff and school psychology service involved and you as the parent or guardian are then advised on what the support should look like and which school is suitable for this.

This is normally the desired school, provided that the staffing and spatial requirements are met and that there are free school places available.

It is helpful for your child and the school if you are actively involved in discussing the planned developmental and educational aims for your child together with the school.

Advice and support

The supervision of schools can advise you in the search for a suitable school for children with disabilities or significant and long-lasting impairments which is close to your home. SIBUZ can answer any questions relating to special educational support.

SCHOOLS WITH A SPECIAL CURRICULUM

The schools in Berlin offer various learning offers and so that every child receives the best possible education. Many schools specialise in specific topics and subjects to support interested or gifted children in particular, for example, music, art, sports or languages.

If your child is to attend a school with a particular focus or a (different) comprehensive school then please apply when registering with your relevant school. The general registration deadline also applies here.

If the limited places in your chosen school are already taken, please check the other options.

You can find detailed information about all schools in the online directory of schools:
www.bildung.berlin.de/schulverzeichnis

You can find the right school for your child here:

- Search by various characteristics and offers
- Search by the relevant school for your place of residence
- Search by all schools near your home including links to the respective websites
- Select each school directly by entering the number of the school you want (for example "04G12") as the search term

PRIVATE SCHOOLS (SCHULEN IN FREIER TRÄGERSCHAFT)

These are fee-based, state-accredited alternative schools. They work according to the same guidelines as the public schools in terms of the teaching and education aims and transition recommendations. They offer, among other things, alternative and progressive education concepts, religious orientations or bilingual lesson. Here, the schools decide how to award school places themselves.

- State-accredited alternative schools
- State-accredited alternative schools - They do not prepare any support forecasts and average grades for registration at a public secondary school.

SCHOOLS WITH A PARTICULAR FOCUS

Schools with a music focus

At schools with a music focus, the children receive additional music lessons and the opportunity to learn to play an instrument.

SCHOOLS WITH A LINGUISTIC FOCUS

State European School Berlin (SESB)

Half of the lessons in these schools with compulsory all-day attendance are taught in German and another language from the start of school until the final exams. Teachers and education support workers teach in their first language. In principle, all children can register for the SESB - regardless of their place of residence and nationality. The school checks whether their knowledge of German and the second languages is sufficient for admission before enrolment.

French as a first foreign language

Some schools offer French as the first foreign language from year 3, if at least 15 pupils register for it. If this number is not reached, your school will be happy to inform you of other schools in the district with the French provision. At certain secondary schools, your child can continue with French as the first foreign language. English will then be the second foreign language. Alternative offers are bilingual German-French lessons or the French Gymnasium.

“First language” lesson provision

In these schools children are also given an additional two hours of lessons in one of the following languages: Arabic, Chinese, Kurdish (Kurmandschi), Polish, Romanian, Russian, Turkish, Ukrainian, Vietnamese and Zazaki. Children with these first languages learn how to read and write in their family's language, thus creating a basis for multilingualism and successful learning. Depending on demand, other districts and schools may also offer this. Please enquire at your child's school to find out more.

COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOLS

Children can attend these inclusive schools with a primary and secondary level continuously from year 1 to 10, and at some schools even up to Abitur (year 13).

Pupils with different abilities learn together here. Performance is assessed in a variety of ways - in certificates, meetings, and entries in log books or proficiency tables. Up to Class 9 it is possible to assess performance in writing instead of grades. Teachers and parents or guardians are in close contact here and discuss ideas regularly. Parents and guardians also generally participate to a greater degree in school life here, for example on the class council, school parliament or parents' café.

Two thirds of the places at comprehensive schools are intended for children from the catchment area and up to a third for children of families from other districts, who are interested in the concept and school programme.
